HUTCHINSON ON TRIAL

That Old Case Finally Appears In Court.

BEING TRIED TO A JURY

Councilmen Giving Testimony—The Costs Will Be Large—Attorney Brookes Scores a Member of the Board of Health, And the Case Goes On With a Big Audience To Laugh At the Ridiculous Part of the Proceedings.

The Hutchinson case, after many weeks of delay and rumored compromise, was called in the court of Mayor Gilbert this afternoon.

The particulars of the litigation are known to almost every person in the city, and involve the construction of a sewer at the National House, and deal largely with the cleaning of a vault under the order of the board of health. When it became known that the matter would come to trial the defendant had Councilmen Marshall, Horwell, Owens and Swindells subpoenaed to give testimony in his behalf, and Jack McGinnis was added to the list a few days later. The city called upon Otto Schmidtbauer, Health Officer King and Councilman Kent. Mayor Gilbert has been looking after the cost of the case, and finds that the amount has already reached $39.80, and there will likely be more to follow.

It was almost 1:30 o'clock when Mayor Gilbert called for order and the selection of jurors was made. E. M. Crosser and Mr. Stoddard were challenged by the defense and excused, and the plaintiffs did likewise with John Peake. The jury was then composed of Henry E. Porter, Henry Joseph, William Erlanger, William Jolly, Enoch Elden, J. Hague, W. Calhoun, John Reark, Charles Larkins, John Brannon, Daniel Pollock and James Clarke. A crowded court room was the result of the newspaper notoriety the case has already had, and all the witnesses, except Councilman Kent, were present when their names were called.

Foreman Porter, of the jury, stated that he had formed an opinion from what he had read, but when Attorney Brookes for the defense asked him if he could give an unprejudiced verdict he thought he could. Even then he had misgivings about his already formed opinion and did not hesitate to say so. Attorney Brookes was satisfied, however, and would not excuse the juror.

The solicitor then made his address to the jury in which he quoted the state law at length, the same section being brought into use as was used the other day by Mr. Purinton when the solicitor had another view. He followed this by presenting the city ordinances showing the power of the board, as given by the city council. Sections 50 and 51, revised ordinances, were also quoted.

Attorney Brookes followed, and he got after Mr. Huston, of the board, in a manner that caused many a broad smile. He claimed that through Huston's venom the trouble was brought about. "Like Haman of old," said Mr. Brookes, "he couldn't see Mordecai sitting at the king's gate. There were no complaints from any of the neighbors, except Mr. Huston, who scented battle afar off with a scent made keen by long service on the board." Mr. Brookes also said it would be brought out in evidence that the health officer had promised Hutchinson to sewer and have the same charged upon the tax duplicate to Henry Studenroth, of Pittsburg, the owner of the building. This would have been satisfactory but was not done. He made several other surprising statements and then the first witness was called. At the hour of going to press the case is still in progress.

LOVERS OF OLD GLORY.

Loyal Men Indignant at Filings at Patriotic Organizations.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW.—The would-be brains of a copperhead sheet published in Rat alley, East Liverpool, devotes almost a column of slush in an attack upon Solicitor A. H. Clark, the central point of the stuff being a bitter onslaught against the American Protective association and its members. We do not wonder that the editor of the vile sheet in question attacks the American Protective association, as he attacks all societies or organizations which are loyal and patriotic, for the fellow's associates and friends are men who belonged to the Knights of the Golden Circle during the dark days of the rebellion in this fair land—men or creatures who were and are known as copperheads, a class so low that Webster's dictionary fails to give a definition of the term, unable to fashion fitting language to properly express the full loathing all true and loyal men have for such scum.

This attack upon the American Protective association is simply an attack upon the American Mechanics and every loyal society in our city and land, as the American Protective association is simply a patriotic organization, which any man who loves his country and Old Glory can be justly proud of belonging to. The writers and sponsors of this article glory in being members of the American Protective association, a society which believes in placing God first and country next, and which embraces many hundreds of good citizens of East Liverpool in its ranks, men of every occupation and profession, laborers, mechanics, potters, physicians, preachers, lawyers, professional and business men; men who despise such disloyal creatures as the author of the article which attacks our friend and brother, A. H. Clark. Members of loyal and patriotic societies, you know your friends. Govern yourselves accordingly.

LOYAL MEN.

Now He Limp.

A well known College street man entered a down town drug store this morning and as he limped toward the counter and asked for a box of salve he told his sad story. Only a few nights ago he was punished for the crime of having cold feet. His long-suffering and patient wife had become weary of having the icy pedestals thrust against her spinal column, and surrounded herself with hot irons. After he had fallen asleep his feet sought a warmer place and found it. One of his great toes touched an uncovered spot on an iron, and with a shriek that made the shingles rattle he awoke. The burn on his toe is about the size of a quarter, and as the man limps about he makes a new resolution.

The Flood Is Over.

The steady fall in the river caused no end of joy among residents in the lower part of the city, and when it was seen that the water had dropped 12 feet since yesterday, there was a general thanksgiving. The Scotia passed up yesterday, and will be the regular Saturday boat for Cincinnati. The Jim Wood and the Tom Lysle were the first towboats to get away from Pittsburg last night, and passed here with large tows of coal for the South.

This afternoon the river was still falling, but so slowly that it was feared it would be rising before night because of the rain. It is raining in the mountains, and the only thing to prevent another rise is a cold snap.

Two Good Plays.

The "Land of the Midnight Sun" drew a comfortable audience to the Grand last night and scattered delight on every hand. The play is exceptionally strong, and the company is much better than the average.

"Jane" will be at the Grand on Saturday night, and lovers of droll, humorous and ridiculous comedy will find in it the most pleasing comedy on the American stage. It had a wonderful run in New York, and made a decided hit in London while the people of Paris went wild over it.

Sneak Thieves About.

A number of small thefts have taken place during the week the victims being physicians and other office men. Doctor Toot was one of the sufferers, while Doctor Williams recently missed some books and pencils. Paper and stationery seem to be the thief's specialty although if something more valuable chances to be in the vicinity the scamp is not averse to helping himself. The matter has been placed in the hands of the police, and an arrest or two may be expected.

A Potter Dead.

Adolph Stein, a potter who lived on Thompson hill, died this morning after an illness of a few days duration. He was 32 years of age and leaves a wife and five small children to mourn the loss of a good husband and father. Arrangements have not yet been made for the time of interment, but it will take place in the Catholic cemetery.

Deceased was a member of Haynes' band and Elwell's orchestra, and was also in the mouldmaker's union.

Mrs. Taylor Improving.

Mrs. Will L. Taylor, who has been ill for so long, is slowly improving, and is now thought to be out of danger. The lady has so far recovered as to be able to sit up in bed, and it is thought that she can occupy a chair the first days of next week. Her many friends will be pleased to hear of her steady improvement.

GEORGE HAD A BIG GUN

But Chief Gill Took Him to City Hall.

HE WAS DRUNK AND DISORDERLY

And Imagined That No One Would Object to a Little Target Practice. After a Night of Sober Thought He Decided To Pay the Fine and Costs.

George Heckathorn was arrested by Chief Gill last evening and spent the night in city hall.

Heckathorn was filled to the brim with firewater, and was making the welkin ring when Chief Gill arrived and placed him under arrest. The man was armed with a revolver, and insisted on flourishing it so dangerously that persons in the immediate neighborhood feared some one would get hurt. He had fired one shot before the chief arrived, but that put an end to his play, and he walked peacefully to city hall. Mayor Gilbert heard the particulars in the case this morning, and Heckathorn was invited to pay $7.60, which he did—glad to get off so easy.

The man Jackson, who was charged with assault, with intent to kill, did not appear in police court last night, because the defendant succeeded in eluding the officers, and was not placed under arrest. Chief Gill was after him this morning.

The contract with the Stark county workhouse has not yet been returned, but it is in force with as much power as if it was already a part of the city's archives. Should the mayor find it necessary to commit some unfortunate to the workhouse it could be done at once. The contract is expected to exert a wholesome influence on some of the regulars.

Sick People Are Plenty.

Mrs. Randall, of East End, has been ill several days with inflammation, but is slightly improved.

Mrs. W. C. Thompson, of East End, who has been ill for some time, is convalescent.

Mrs. Edward Orr is confined to her home on Thompson avenue with a severe attack of congestion of the lungs.

Mrs. Betsy West, an aged lady and well known to almost all East Liverpool residents, is ill at the home of her son, Night Policeman Colin Kinsey, Thompson hill.

Mrs. Baxter, of College street, is confined to her home with a serious attack of rheumatism.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Kirkham, 448 Calcutta road, is ill with bronchitis.

The infant child of Wilson Smith, Thompson hill, is suffering with congestion of the stomach.

Gwendolin, the little daughter of Homer Laughlin, who has been ill with scarlet fever, is rapidly recovering.

Laughing at Caroline.

The officials at city hall are laughing at the suit of Caroline Smith, and can not but believe that the end will be a victory for the city. A reporter was shown the jail this morning, and if it was as clean when Caroline was confined there as it is at present she will never recover a dollar. There are always a sufficient number of prisoners on hand to keep the place clean, and when the regulars find places behind the bars, they are always made to earn their meals by cleaning up.

Made a Change.

A new wrinkle has turned up in the green goods business. The country has been flooded with letters offering counterfeit money on a 10 per cent basis; the only difference from the old stereotyped form being that the letters are mailed at St. Louis and the telegram in answer is to be directed to Waukesha, Wis. Apparently the gang has found it too hot in New York and vicinity, and had to shift its basis of operations to fresh fields and pastures new.

Johnson Is Recovering.

W. H. Johnson, who was shot by robbers on the Steubenville road not far from Lisbon, is getting along very well, and will soon be out. No trace of the crowd has yet been found, although it is generally understood that the authorities have been keeping close watch on a number of persons suspected of the crime, but all the arrests made to the present time have resulted in nothing but failure.

Harrison in Wellsville.

Harrison, the railroader who so mysteriously disappeared from Pittsburg when the remains of his dead wife and babe were sent to this city, is said to have been seen in Wellsville on Tuesday night by a man who knew him so well that he can not believe himself mistaken. If this be true the theory of the dead women's relatives against suicide seems to have been born out.

They Are Thankful.

The stockholders of the Steubenville pottery held their annual meeting this week, and expressed satisfaction that the compact was formed and there would be no ruinous cutting; that they have for five months had no complaints because of crazing; that during the strike all the old stock was worked off, and the shapes now in the warehouse are new and saleable. The old board of directors was re-elected.

Bound to Have Something New.

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS REVIEW.
LISBON, Jan. 10.—Word was received here today that the postoffice department is satisfied with just plain Lisbon, but will put the county seat to a little bother to get its mail under that title. After April 1 the town will be known to the postoffice department as Lisbon, but a new commission and a new bond will be required of the new postmaster.

Fear an Epidemic.

A physician said today that because of the number of cases of scarlet fever in the city the disease might become epidemic. It is one of those ailments about which it is hard to tell, and the weather is such just now as to encourage the dread malady. Of the cases at present in town none are really dangerous, and no deaths are feared from that cause.

Lucky Drifters.

Among the rivermen who were fortunate in securing fine logs out of the drift which came with the swelling of the Ohio, several East End people were not slow. George McKinnon captured about 30 good logs and others got from 10 to 25 by hard work among the big cakes of ice. The amount of drift was not as large as usual on this rise.

To the Public.

On Monday, Jan. 28, at Turner hall, a benefit will be given for the family of Adolph Stein, who died this morning. Elwell's orchestra will give their services free. Tickets are being sold by parties who will call upon you. Help the good cause by investing 50 cents, for the cause is really a worthy one. Charity covers a multitude of sins.

Value of a Live Paper.

An exchange truthfully remarks that a well-written advertisement, run regularly in a good paper, with a bona fide circulation, which is bought and paid for by the best people of a community because of its worth, is the most successful method of attracting business known to the world of trade.

Stole Five Chickens.

A resident of Bradshaw addition was mad this morning when he awoke to find that five of his best chickens had been stolen last night. Among them was a fighter with no little reputation, and the owner inclines to the belief that the raid was made to secure that special one.

Crockery Journalists.

Mr. Dunne, representing the Crockery World, of Chicago, is in the city today on business.

Mr. Jaques, who is connected with the Crockery Journal, published in New York, is here today calling on the manufacturing potters.

In Closer Bond.

The sewer pipe manufacturers of this part of the state held a meeting at the exchange in Toronto yesterday for the purpose of ratifying agreements with other manufacturers. The Tribune says that the organization is approaching a final agreement.

Kicked About the Head.

Mrs. Joe Andrews, who was injured by being thrown from a wagon, is not so seriously hurt as was at first expected, and will soon recover. The injuries she sustained were about the head where she was kicked when the horses began rearing and plunging.

Taken Away.

The remains of Bertha, the little daughter of C. Harman, who died in the East End yesterday, were taken this morning to Graysville accompanied by the parents and Oliver Cox. The family are grateful to East End people for the sympathy shown.

What a Pity.

Another "innocent" man goes up for life for murder. It is Jesse McGregor at New Lisbon. He is profuse in his protestations to that effect, although it must be admitted that the judge and jury thought otherwise.—Canton Repository.

NO OFFICIAL NOTICE

Has Yet Been Given the Board of Commerce.

MEMBERS FAVOR A HOSPITAL

Action May Be Taken at the Meeting Tomorrow Evening—All Improvements That Will Lead to a Betterment of the City Favored by That Body.

The scheme of Doctor Marshall for the founding of a hospital is meeting with favor, and the board of commerce will likely swing into line tomorrow evening.

A prominent member of the board said today that no official notice had yet come from Clerk Hanley, but when it was sent the board will act. The matter must be brought up in legal form, and will then receive the attention it deserves. The board meets in regular session tomorrow evening and it is not unlikely that the matter will then be brought up for consideration. As council has already appointed its committee, and the physicians are only too anxious to move on that line at the earliest possible moment, it remains for the board to add its three members, and push the cause right along. It is already understood that a donation of ground can be secured with little trouble, and the surrounding towns would not be slow in arranging for subscriptions to the worthy project.

Damaging City Property.

The old hose reel and ladder truck of the fire department are being damaged by the weather since the improvements were made at city hall. The outfit is kept in the shed, and as some glass is broken out of the skylight, the apparatus is exposed to rain and sleet. The East End or the West End would gladly accept them, and council should place them where they can be of some service.

Where Kirk Stood.

The death blow which fell upon Secretary Carlisle's currency bill in the house of representatives yesterday was given by all the Republicans and some Democrats, Doctor Kirk being among the members of his party who slapped the administration.

Lost Three Cancers.

Thomas Clark, the Liverpool man who had three cancers cut from him last week in Pittsburg, is getting along very well, and will soon be all right. One was taken from his chin, another from his cheek, and the third from under his right arm.

Ready For Installation.

The lodge room of the Junior Mechanics has been renovated and cleaned for the installation exercises which take place this evening. Lunch will be served after the ceremonies are over.

The State Boards.

The fifth annual meeting of state and local boards of health will be held in Columbus, Jan. 24. J. J. Purinton will be the representative from East Liverpool.

PERSONAL MENTION.

—E. N. Huntsman went to Pittsburg this morning.

—Percy Albright is in Irondale today on business.

—F. W. Fertig, of Cleveland, was here today on business.

—John Tyson, of Steubenville, was here on business today.

—Miss Laura Rowe, of East Palestine, is visiting friend in this city.

Mrs. Heber Blythe is improving slowly from a bad case of the grip.

—Alvin Bulger went down the river on a business trip this morning.

—Mrs. Sterling Newell is visiting her mother, Mrs. Harker, Cook street.

—James K. Newton, of Pittsburg, went home today after a week's visit with friends here.

—Miss Ella Mason, of near Burgettstown, was the guest of friends here yesterday afternoon.

—Mr. Patterson Ramsey, who has been visiting his parents in the East End, returned to Leetonia today.

—Miss Jessie Thompson, of Salineville, has returned home after a visit with her sister, Mrs. R. T. Robbins, this city.

—Robert Crumley and family, who have been visiting Mrs. Larkins, Fourth street, returned last night to Homer, Mich.

—Miss Anna Martin, who has been the guest of Miss Mary Campbell, Fifth street, returned this afternoon to her home in Lisbon.

—Mrs. James E. Orr and children returned yesterday from a two-weeks' visit with her mother, Mrs. James Sennot, East End, Pittsburg.

A LITTLE LIGHT.

Wyoming is glad because its women can go to the polls to vote, and the strongest endorsement of the new system comes from Chief Justice Groesbeck, who says:

"The law has tended to secure good nominations for the public offices.
The women, as a class, will not knowingly vote for incompetent, immoral, or inefficient candidates. It has tended to make women self-reliant and independent, and to turn their attention to the study of the science of government, an education that is needed by the mothers of the race. It has made our elections quiet and orderly. No rudeness, brawling and disorder appear, or would be tolerated at the polling booth. There is no more difficulty or indecency in depositing the ballot in the urn than in dropping a letter in the postoffice. It has not marred domestic harmony. Husband and wife frequently vote opposing tickets without disturbing the peace of home. Divorces are not as frequent here as in other communities, even taking into consideration our small population. It has not resulted in unsexing women. They have not been office-seekers. Women are generally selected as county superintendents of schools, officers for which they seem particularly adapted, but they have not been applicants for positions.
Equal suffrage brings together at the ballot box the enlightened commonsense of American manhood, and the unselfish, moral sentiment of American womanhood. Both these elements govern a well-regulated household, and both should control the political destinies of the entire human family.
Particularly do we need in this new commonwealth the home influence at the primaries and at the polls. We believe with Emerson that, if all the voices are represented in our politics, some of the virtues should be."

ABLE TO TRANSFER LUNACY.

Uncanny Result of an Experiment In Hypnotism Made by a Paris Doctor.

A series of very wonderful experiments which have just been concluded by Dr. Luys of Paris, whose observations and discoveries in connection with magnetism and electricity in relation to hypnotism made a profound impression upon the scientific world some time ago, has led to a remarkable result. The latest discovery establishes the fact that cerebral activity can be transferred to a crown of magnetized iron, in which the activity can be retained and subsequently passed on to a second person. Incredible as this may seem, Dr. Luys has proved its possibility by the experiments just referred to.

He placed the crown, which in reality is only a circular band of magnetized iron, on the head of a female patient suffering from melancholia, and with such success was the experiment attended that within a fortnight the patient could be allowed to go free without danger, the crown having absorbed all her marked tendencies.

About two weeks afterward he put the same crown, which meanwhile had been carefully kept free from contact with anything else, on the head of a male patient suffering from hysteria, complicated by frequent recurrent periods of lethargy. The patient was then hypnotized and immediately conducted himself after the manner of the woman who had previously worn the crown.
Indeed he practically assumed her personality and uttered exactly the same complaints as she had done. Similar phenomena have, it is reported, been observed in the case of every patient experimented upon. Another experiment showed that the crown retained the impression acquired until it was made red-hot.—London Telegraph.

TALKED WITH BRICE.

Cleveland Consulted Him Concerning Carlisle's Bill.

SENATORS MAY TRY THEIR HAND.

Senator Voorhees Calls a Meeting of the Finance Committee—Plans to Be Devised to Improve the Treasury's Condition—Vest Has a Scheme.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Senator Brice has been in consultation with the president on the pending currency bill. Mr.
Brice, it is understood, pointed out various phases of the question as they presented themselves to him as a business man. He dwelt especially upon the possible lack of wisdom in enacting a law providing for a low rate bond and repealing the existing law.
"Under the present law," he said to Mr. Cleveland, "you have the power to sell an unlimited number of 5 per cent bonds. There has been some disposition to question this authority, but it has been exercised, and it has not been questioned by congress. A new law, changing the rate of interest to 3 per cent and limiting the issue, might in reality embarrass rather than relieve.
Suppose the low rate bonds are not accepted by the public, as they are apt not to be if thrown upon the country in any large blocks, won't the fact that it is known that other issues are to follow probably render it impossible to sell the bonds at the low rate provided?"

The senator also pointed out what he believed would be the evil effect of drawing in the $346,000,000 worth of greenbacks, saying that this course would produce such a contraction as would force the repeal of the law, or at least the stoppage of its operation within a month's time. He also expressed the opinion that so far as the revenue was concerned the existing tariff and internal revenue laws would bring it up to the requisite sum by the middle of next spring. It is understood that while the president listened with apparent interest to the senator's representations, he did not himself express an opinion on the subject.

Senator Brice thinks it possible that the senate may undertake to prepare a currency bill, and says that it will become necessary to pass one if the condition of the treasury grows worse for the next month.

Many of the Democratic senators received the announcement of the adverse vote on the currency bill as a summons to the senate to take the question up and find a way out of the difficulties with which the treasury finds itself confronted. Senator Voorhees took the first step for the formal consideration of the matter by issuing a call for a meeting of the finance committee this afternoon. This meeting is for the purpose of canvassing the entire situation and if possible devising means of improving the condition of the treasury. So far as can be learned no measure has been prepared for submission to the committee, but the movers for the meeting hope that a general exchange of views on the part of members of the committee will indicate the general lines upon which a bill may be framed, which would stand a chance of receiving the approval of the committee and of the senate.

It is also understood that Senator Vest has in mind the outline of a plan for a bill which he may submit to the committee and which may prove the basis of future action. The two principal features of the plan are:

First, to authorize the issuance of a sufficient number of low rate bonds to retire the $346,000,000 worth of greenbacks, and, second, to provide for the purchase and coinage of a sufficient quantity of silver to increase the silver issuance to $750,000,000 which would be an increase of about $150, 000,000.

This is suggested as a compromise upon which the bond advocates and the silver men can agree, but the scheme has not met with general favor so far as it has been canvassed. Some of the silver senators, notably the Republican senators, have taken the position that they will accept nothing short of a provision for unlimited silver coinage.
They will not insist upon free coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1, but are willing to allow the government a liberal seigniorage. They will not agree, however, that any limit shall be placed upon the amount to be received on the terms agreed upon. It is not known how the finance committee will stand upon this proposition, but the silver men believe that a poll of the committee will show a majority friendly to that metal.

One Republican member of the finance committee do not regard the outlook as promising for any action at all; and they predict that there will be as great divergence of opinion as among members, and they predict that it will be quite as impossible for the senate Democrats to agree on any bill presented as it has been for the house to agree on the Carlisle bill.

Secretary Carlisle has been in the speaker's private office conferring with house leaders on the effect of the reverse suffered by the currency bill. The secretary expressed regret that the rule had been defeated and he shared the view of others present that the defeat closed the prospects for the bill in its present form. The result was a surprise to him, for the secretary had not shared the doubts of house leaders up to the time of the vote. He had expected that amendments would be suggested which would overcome the opposition of certain elements and make the passage of the bill possible. Now that the rule was defeated Mr. Carlisle agreed with the house leaders that it was desirable to let the bill rest for a time. He did not suggest any new measure or any material changes in the present one. It appeared to be the idea, however, that efforts should be directed toward learning the objections of those Democrats who had voted against the rule in order that these objections might be overcome if possible. After the conference Mr. Springer said that while some concessions might be made in the interest of harmony yet no concession could be made on the basis of giving the silver men everything they wanted.

CARLISLE'S BILL DITCHED.

The Rule For Five-Minute Debate and Final Vote Beaten.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The Carlisle currency bill which has been under debate in the house for about two weeks has been ignominiously ditched. It had not strength enough to surmount the first parliamentary obstacle in its path.
The committee on rules, in obedience to the decree of the Democratic caucus, brought in an order to close general debate and proceed under the 5-minute rule until Saturday, when the final vote should be taken but the supporters of the bill showed lamentable weakness.
They were unable to order the previous question, the demand therefore being refused, first by a rising vote of 92 to 101, and then on an aye and nay vote by 124 to 129.

The advocates of the bill were dumb-founded when they discovered that they had been beaten in the preliminary skirmish and the order was withdrawn. This was the first reverse the committee on rules had suffered in four years. An analysis of the vote shows that all of the 124 votes in favor of the motion were cast by Democrats while 82 Republicans, 39 Democrats and 8 Populists voted against it. Of the 39 Democratic votes against the motion it was pointed out that 24 were cast by Democrats defeated for re-election.

After the vote diplomatic and postoffice appointment bills were passed.
The former carries $1,563,118, and the latter $59,442,952.

THE SENATE SESSION.

Mr. Quay Proposes an Amendment to the Income Tax Provisions.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Mr. Cockrell (Dem., Mo.), from the appropriation committee, reported the urgent deficiency bill to the senate. In reply to a question by Mr. Quay (Rep., Pa.) Mr.
Cockrell said the committee had made no amendments to the bill as passed by the house to those provisions relating to the income tax.

Mr. Quay thought an amendment should be made to the law requiring a publication of the names and salaries of the employees of the corporations, and in this connection he created a sensation by saying that a gentleman high in political position in Philadelphia had given as a reason why he could not preserve plighted faith and could not do what ought to be done regarding an important nomination, that he was under a heavy salary from a great corporation and was compelled to do what the corporation desired.

Mr. Pascoe (Dem., Fla.) addressed the senate upon the Nicaragua canal bill in which he announced that while favoring the construction of an interoceanic canal yet he was opposed to the pending bill.

The Afflicted Stevens Family.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Vice President Stevenson is still detained at Asheville, N. C., because of the illness of his daughter Mary. Her condition is reported to be still critical in the extreme and it is uncertain when Mr. Stevenson will be able to return to Washington.
The vice president's family are all at Asheville except his son, Lewis G. Stevenson, who is unable to leave the bedside of his wife, also dangerously ill at Bloomington, Ills.

AN OHIO BANK ROBBED.

About $10,000 Taken From the Merchants' National of Defiance.

DEFIANCE, O., Jan. 10.—It has been discovered that the Merchants' National bank of this city has been robbed by professional burglars. Monday morning when the officials came to open the bank the combination of the outside door of the vault would not work.
They then sent to Cincinnati for an expert, who, after hard work, succeeded in getting the door open. He then discovered that the door of the safe in the vault had been blown off and the cash-box blown open and the funds of the bank were gone.

E. P. Hooker, the cashier, refuses to make a statement as to the loss of the bank, but it is supposed that about $10,- 000 in cash was carried away. There was nothing to show that burglars had been in the room, but the expert found that wooden pins had been used in the combination of the outside door and for that reason it would not work. The bank directors have been in session considering the situation.

Attempts to Indict Saloonkeepers.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 10.—The report of the Lucas county grand jury, which body has been in session over a week, is anxiously awaited by the saloonkeepers of this city. The civic federation on Sunday last had detectives visit almost every saloon in town with a view to securing evidence to show that liquor was being sold to minors and on the Sabbath day. These spies were more than successful, it is said, but whatever testimony they gave before the grand jury must have been lacking, as no indictments were returned against any saloonkeepers. Quite a sensation was caused by the attempt on the part of Mayor Major to secure the indictment of the publisher of The Commercial for alleged fraud in bills for city advertising.

Charges Against Clark Unfounded.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 10.—Judge Lorton, judge of the circuit court of the United States, now holding court here, says that the charges which have been filed in the United States senate against Judge Clark of Tennessee were made by the same men in a suit, which had been heard by himself and Judge Key.
They have agreed upon an opinion, which will be issued soon in pamphlet form and will be forwarded to the judiciary committee of the senate. He says they found the charges against Judge Clark utterly unfounded, and that he is not subject in the slightest degree to criticism.

Conger's Reply to Ford.

AKRON, O., Jan. 10.—Colonel A. L.
Conger, president Diamond Plateglass company, says in reply to the statement of President Ford of the Pittsburgh Plate-glass company: "There has never been any effort on action on the part of our company looking nor tending to the coercion of any other plateglass company nor jobber in the business. We are located in the great west, and our market lies wholly in the west, and we are compelled to run our factories to their full capacity to supply the western demand, and we are not interfering with the glass situation in the east."

Pipe Manufacturers Combine.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 10.—Representatives of 50 American firms have met here and organized the National Association of Manufacturers of Corrugated Pipe and Galvanized Eave Troughs, with President T. C. Snyder of Canton and James A. Miller of Chicago as the temporary officers.

A permanent national association was organized as follows: President, Chas.
D. Clark, Peoria; vice president, S. L.
Langenbach, Canton; secretary and treasurer, Alexander Glass, Wheeling.

Caldwell Quits the Nickel Plate.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 10.—It is announced here that General D. W. Caldwell has tendered his resignation as president of the Nickel Plate railroad, and will hereafter devote his entire attention to his duties as president of the Lake Shore, a position which he has held in conjunction with that of president of the Nickel Plate for the past two months. It is understood that President S. R. Galla-way of the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City road will in the course of a few days be appointed president of the Nickel Plate.

Killed on a Crossing.

BLOOMDALE, O., Jan. 10.—At the crossing of the Big Four in the east end of the village, an east-bound train struck a carriage containing William Benz, his wife and 10-year-old daughter.
Benz was almost instantly killed and his body carried on the pilot of the locomotive a distance of over 100 yards. Mrs.
Benz sustained a fracture of both her limbs, and her daughter was injured internally, probably fatally.

Miners Lease Coal Mines.

ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 10.—Miners at Shawnee have leased the Coslyn and Barber mines and will operate them, paying the owners 7 cents a ton in royalty and 10 per cent commission for selling. This will net the miners 35 cents per ton, but they say it will place them in a position to compete with Pittsburg operators who have violated the agreement with reference to the differentials.

Morganfield's Case Today.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 10.—After a severe fight on various legal points on Dec. 24, the case of Charles Morganfield, charged with robbing the Adams Express company, was postponed until today.

Elkins Sure of the Place.

CATLETON, W. Va., Jan. 10.—Both branches of the legislature met and heard the governor's long message and adjourned. William G. Worley was elected president of the senate, Populist Lockney voting with the Republicans.
William Seymour Edwards was elected speaker of the house. Hon. S. B. Elkins has headquarters at the Ruffner.
Elkins' election is unquestioned now as his managers named all the officers of the legislature in both branches, will arrange the committees and have all the organization.

Cincinnati Live Stock Market.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 9.
HOGS—Market active and higher at $3.80; 4.30; receipts, 3,200 head; shipments, 1,300 head.
CATTLE—Market strong at $2.00-$2.45; receipts, 800 head; shipments, 100 head.
SHEEP—Market stronger at $1.25-$1.75; receipts, 800 head; shipments, none. Lambs in good demand and higher at $2.50-$3.75.

THE RICKS CASE POSTPONED.

Some Doubts About Taking Up the Charges of Ritchie.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Consideration of the charges against Judge Ricks of Cleveland has been again postponed by the house judiciary committee until Monday next.

Then the testimony preferred by the Cleveland Labor union will be taken up. Judge Lane of Illinois, a member of the sub-committee which investigated those charges, is now attending the funeral of the late Representative Post, and Representative Childs of Illinois is another of the funeral party. The charges which Samuel T. Ritchie of the Canadian Copper company has made will not be considered by the committee until the first case has been disposed of.
Judging by the expressions of several committeesmen there is doubt whether Mr. Ritchie's case will be deemed worthy of serious investigation as they say he has not shown sufficient cause to justify that in taking up his position.

Postponed Action on Armor Plate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The senate committee on naval affairs has again postponed final consideration of the resolution providing for a ballistic test of the Carnegie armor plates. The postponement of the resolution was due to a statement that Mr. Carnegie had an application to the secretary of the navy for the settlement of this question. Senator McPherson, as chairman, was authorized to investigate and the matter was left in abeyance pending his report. It was stated that the Carnegie proposition is to remove the armor plates which are alleged to be defective, subject them to the required test and replace them at his own expense.

Good Beef Sent to Germany.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The special agent of the agricultural department who has been investigating the conditions of our dressed beef and live cattle with Germany has made his report to Secretary Morton. He shows very conclusive evidence as a result of careful inquiry on the part of consular attachés, and even some of the veterinarians themselves, that both the dressed beef and the cattle received from this country were of exceptionally good quality.

New Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—President Cleveland today has sent to the senate these nominations for postmasters: Fred K. Wright, Wellsboro, Pa.; Elwood Hummel, Hummelstown, Pa.; W. W. Van Eman, Grove City, Pa.; William Lee Ritchie, Georgetown, O.

Swindled a Wheeling Hotel.

WHEELING, Jan. 10.—On the 20th of December a well-dressed man, with the air of a commercial traveler, registered at the McLeure House in this city as C.
A. Burns of Philadelphia and asked for the weekly rate of the house, as he expected to remain several days. He represented himself as traveling for the Locust Oil works of Philadelphia, the Bos-sard & Wilson company proprietors.
He finally succeeded in getting the hotel people to cash a check for $50 and skipped out. He also swindled a guest.

An Ex-Banker Arrested.

PERRY, O. T., Jan. 10.—T. T. Burlingame, ex-president of the Bank of Commerce at Springfield, Mo., wanted there on a charge of receiving deposits while the bank was in a failing condition, has been arrested here on a requisition from Governor Stone of Missouri.

Not the Real Strangers.

DENVER, Jan. 10.—The city detectives have concluded that Victor Monchman and Charles Guichard, alias Lemoire, each of whom accuses the other of being the Market Street murderer, are only decoy strangers intended to divert suspicion from the real stranger.

AN ORDINANCE TO ASSESS A SPECIAL

tax on the real estate bounding and abutting on Sheridan avenue, from the west line of West Market street to the west line of Fenton street, and to issue bonds in the anticipation of the collection of such assessment.

Sec. 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Council of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, that to provide money to pay the cost and expense of the engineer, there be levied and assessed on the several lots of land bounding and abutting on Sheridan avenue, between West Market street and Fenton street, as they were more fully described in Ordinance 456 of city ordinances, said ordinance being an ordinance to improve Sheridan avenue, and passed by council August 14, 1894, for each foot frontage of said lots, the sum hereinafter named for each and every year as certified to wit: For the year 1895, 43 50-100 cents; for the year 1896, 43 50-100 cents; for the year 1897, 43 50-100 cents; for the year 1898, 43 50-100 cents.

Sec. 2. That the owners of the several lots of land herein assessed shall pay the amount of said special tax yearly due on or before the first day of September of each year of said several years, and in default of such payment the city clerk shall forthwith certify all unpaid assessments to the county auditor to be by him placed on the general tax duplicate and collected in accordance with law.

Sec. 3. In anticipation of the collection of such assessments and to provide money for the immediate payment of the cost and expense of improving Sheridan avenue, the mayor and city clerk be, and they are hereby authorized to issue and sell on behalf of the city of East Liverpool, Ohio, as follows: One bond for three hundred and fifty-six ($356.00) dollars, payable in one year from the date thereof, one bond for three hundred and seventy-six ($376.00) dollars, payable in two years from the date thereof, one bond for four hundred and eighty-four ($484.00) dollars, payable in four years from the date thereof, and one bond for four hundred and twenty-four ($424.00) dollars, payable in four years from the date thereof. Said bonds shall be designated "Sheridan Avenue Improvement Bonds," made payable to the city treasurer's office of the city of East Liverpool, Ohio, and shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of January and July of each year, and shall be signed by the city officials and sold by them under the direction of the finance committee, for not less than the par value thereof, and the proceeds thereof shall be placed in the city treasury, and applied by council to the cost and expense of improving Sheridan avenue, and the revenue and faith and all other assets of the city of East Liverpool, Ohio, shall be hereby pledged, provided that if before the sale of said bonds any of the property owners on said street will pay the amount of said installments in cash, less the interest on deferred installments, the amount so paid in cash shall be applied to the payment of said bonds, and the amount of the bonds to be issued shall be reduced by the amount of cash so paid in cash from the total amount of money to be provided, and the bonds to be issued shall provide money for the unpaid installments, payable with interest at the times and in

A Sad Accident.

Miss Mary Campbell, residing on Fifth street, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon. The young lady was pouring boiling water from one vessel into another when it splashed into her face, scalding her severely, and injuring her eyes so that for a time it was feared the injury would be permanent. It later developed that, while painfully hurt, Miss Campbell will not lose her sight.

Resolutions of Respect.

In the memory of our brother, Edward Green, who departed this life December 27, 1894, aged 63 years. WHEREAS, It has pleased the Great Spirit of the universe to remove from our midst our brother, Edward Green, to the happy hunting grounds above. Therefore be it Resolved, That in the death of Brother Green, Osceola council No. 8 has lost a faithful member. Although unable to follow the hunt for the past three years, he bore his pain and suffering with patience, waiting for the Great Spirit's call.

Resolved, That we, the officers and members of Osceola council No. 8, tender to the bereaved family of our deceased brother our heartfelt sympathy, praying that the Great Giver of every good and perfect gift, who has promised to be a father to those who are in trouble, will be their guide through life.

Resolved, That in remembrance of our brother our charter be draped in mourning for a period of 30 days, and that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the council and a copy thereof be presented to the bereaved family.

Rubinstein's Charity.

Rubinstein had probably traveled more than other any virtuoso. In his time he made many fortunes and gave them away to the poor in Russia. During the famine which raged among the Russian peasants a few years ago he journeyed to Vienna, Moscow and St. Petersburg to play for charity. The price of seats rose to unheard of figures, but every penny of the money went to the starving farmers. It is said that in the course of 28 years the sum which he thus disposed of amounted to $250,000.

THE SUNSET LEDGE.

ITS STORY AS TOLD BY THE OLD CALIFORNIA MINER.

The Two Contractors Who Refused to Heed a Timely Warning—Fifteen Years After a Blast Released a Pair of Grinning Skeletons.

In Butte county there is a quartz mine which has been abandoned for many years. Only the oldest residents of the vicinity remember the names of the locators, and scarcely a trace of the shaft and buildings remains. The ledge was discovered away back in the early days, when quartz first attracted the notice of prospectors; when many worthless ledges were worked because the miners had not yet learned how to read the value of such ore by the minerals in it, its location, dip and contact with other formations. The Sunset ledge was small, flinty and absolutely worthless, but the men who discovered it thought it worth development. They put down a shaft 100 feet in depth in wet and treacherous ground, and they used no timbers. Then they let a contract to two men—a Cornish man and an Irish man—to construct a tunnel 100 feet in length from the bottom.

Sometimes untimbered ground will stand apparently firm and safe for a time, and then, with no perceptible cause, suddenly get shaky and fall or close in. This was just what occurred at the Sunset mine. The two men in the tunnel had almost finished their contract and were "squaring up the face" of the tunnel when one of the men employed on the surface was lowered rapidly, ran to them and told them to leave the mine instantly because the shaft was closing in.

Why the men refused, in the face of a certain horrible death, to heed the warning is a mystery. The messenger begged and threatened, but they were obdurate. They laughed at him, told him to sit down and smoke a pipe with them and said they would leave the tunnel only when they had "finished her up in shape." Perhaps they imagined the man was playing a joke upon them or that it was a scheme to get them to leave the mine before their contract was fulfilled. At any rate, they refused to leave the mine, and the man who warned them returned to the surface only just in time to escape the fate of the men below. The shaft, with a roar, closed in, and they were entombed. No effort was made to rescue the buried men. It was impossible to save them if they were not killed by the cave, and it was supposed that the tunnel had also collapsed. To sink a shaft 100 feet through treacherous ground would take a long time even in these days, when all the "modern appliances" for such work were at our disposal.

The mine was abandoned. Fifteen years went by. The story of the mine and the buried men became an old one. Their names were forgotten. They were like men who go down to the sea in ships and perish in sight of their homes. Their friends know that somewhere in the sea their bones are bleaching, somewhere in a great sepulcher upon which they may look, but into which they cannot see.

Fifteen years after the caving in of the mine some prospectors overran the locality. They were told the story of the Sunset ledge, and they went to its croppings and to the dump where the shaft had been and tested the ore they found there. Whether they found any gold is not known, but they found something which encouraged them. Perhaps they were not well versed in quartz and believed that any ledge would pay if developed. They resolved to reopen the mine. It was their opinion, they said, that the Sunset company had not put their shaft down in the right place nor sunk it deep enough. They (the new company) would choose a better spot, sink their shaft much deeper and tap the ledge on the pay shoot.

Old men who heard of it shook their heads and prophesied failure. They said no luck could come from disturbing dead men's bones, but the new company began and finished their shaft. Then they excavated a tunnel and raised an inclined shaft, hoping and expecting to strike the ledge where their judgment had led them to believe the pay shoot was.

One day, when they fired a blast, there was a rush of water down the incline, and the miners were driven out. After much trouble and expense a larger pump was put in and the mine cleared, and the cause of the sudden flow was explained. The upraise of the new company had entered the old tunnel of the Sunset company about 20 feet from its face. And there on a heap of rock, leaning against the walls, were two grinning skeletons. The bones of the dead contractors who had sat there grinning at their fate and for 15 years patiently waiting to be found were removed from the mine and given decent burial. The mine was again abandoned and will probably never be again opened.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Queer Ways of the Toad.

Paternal affection is not perhaps the precise emotion that we should be disposed to look for in the cold blooded frog. But the Surinam toad appears to exhibit this praiseworthy attitude of mind toward his numerous progeny. When his mate lays her eggs, the solicitous father places them carefully upon her back, where in due time their presence causes an irritation that produces numerous small holes, into which the eggs forthwith drop. In these cells, which, from mutual pressure, get to be hexagonal, like honeycomb, the young frogs are finally hatched, and for a bit scramble about their mother's back, hiding in their nurseries when danger threatens.—London News.

Newbern, N. C., was named after Bern in Switzerland by Baron de Graafewit, a Swiss, who founded the town in 1720.

WORKS HE STUDIED.

THE KIND OF LITERATURE THAT INTERESTED NAPOLEON.

He Fell Under the Influence of Abbe Raynal, Who Advised Him to Read More Before Writing—He Was Partial to History, Politics and Geography.

Rousseau had been the prophet and forerunner of the new social dispensation. The scheme for applying its principles is found in a work which bears the name of a very mediocre man, the Abbe Raynal, a man who enjoyed in his day an extended and splendid reputation which now appears to have had only the slender foundations of unmerited persecution and the friendship of superior men. In 1770 appeared over his name a volume of which he was the compiler, but not the author. "Philosophical and Political History of the Establishments and Commerce of the Europeans in the Two Indies" is a miscellany compounded of extracts from many sources and of short essays by Raynal's brilliant acquaintances on superstition, tyranny and similar themes. The reputed author had written for the public prints and had published several works, none of which attracted attention. The amazing success of this one was not remarkable if, as the critics now believe, at least a third of the book was by Diderot. The position of the self-styled author as a man of letters immediately became a foremost one, and such was the vogue of the work that the authorities finally became alarmed. A dramatic climax to Raynal's renown was secured when in 1781 the volume was condemned to be burned and the writer fled for safety into exile. The storm had finally subsided, he had returned to France, and communication was opened between the great man and his aspiring reader.

"Not yet 18," are the startling words in the letter written by Bonaparte, "I am a writer. It is the age when we must learn. Will my boldness subject me to your railing? No; I am sure. If indulgence be a mark of true genius.

you should have much indulgence. I inclose chapters 1 and 2 of a history of Corsica, with an outline of the rest. If you approve, I will go on; if you advise me to stop, I will go no further." These chapters as they came to Raynal's hands are not in existence, so far as is known, and posterity can never judge how monumental their author's assurance was. The abbe's reply was kindly, but he advised the novice to complete his researches and then to rewrite his pieces. Bonaparte was not unwilling to profit by the counsels he received. Soon after, in July, he gave two orders to a Genevese bookseller, one for books concerning Corsica, another for the memoirs of Mme. de Warens and her servant, Claude Anet, which are a sort of supplement to Rousseau's "Confessions." The young historian's letter teems with bad spelling and bad grammar, but it is saturated with the spirit of his time.

Some of the lagging days were not only spent in novel reading, as the emperor in after years confessed to Mme. de Remusat, but in attempts at novel writing to relieve the tedium of idle hours. It is said that first and last Bonaparte read "Werther" five times through. Enough remains among his boyish scribbles to show the kind of fantastic dreams both of love and of glory in which he indulged. Many entertain a shrewd suspicion that amid the gayeties of the winter he lost his heart, or thought he did, and was repulsed. At least, in his "Dialogue on Love," written five years later, he says, "I, too, was once in love," and proceeds, after a few lines, to decry the sentiment as harmful to mankind, a something from which God would do well to emancipate it. There seems to have been in the interval no opportunity for philandering so good as the one he had enjoyed in the drawing rooms of Mme. de Colombar. It has at all events been the good fortune of that excellent and charming woman to secure, by this supposition, a place in history not merely as the influential patroness of Napoleon, but as the mother of his first love. But these were his avocations. The real occupation of his time was study. Besides reading again the chief works of Rousseau and devouring the Abbe Raynal, his most beloved author, he also read much in the works of Voltaire, of Filangieri, of Necker and of Adam Smith. With notebook and pencil he extracted, annotated and criticised, his mind alert and every faculty bent to the clear apprehension of the subject in hand. To the conception of the state as a private corporation, which he had imbibed from Rousseau, was now added the conviction that the institutions of France were no longer adapted to the occupations, beliefs or morals of her people, and that revolution was a necessity. To judge from a memoir presented some years later to the Lyons Academy, he must have absorbed the teachings of the "Two Indies" almost entire.

The consuming zeal for studies on the part of this incomprehensible youth is probably unparalleled. Having read Plutarch in his childhood, he now devoured Herodotus, Strabo and Diodorus. China, Arabia and the Indies dazzled his imagination, and what he could lay hands upon concerning the east was soon assimilated. England and Germany next engaged his attention, and toward the close of his studies he became ardent in examining the minutest details of French history. It was, moreover, the science of history and not of literature which occupied him—dry details of revenue, resources and institutions. The Sorbonne, the bull Unigenitus and church history in general, the character of peoples, the origin of institutions, the philosophy of legislation—all these he studied, and if the character of his notes is trustworthy with some thoroughness. He also found time to read the masterpieces of French literature and the great critical judgments which had been passed upon them.—Professor William M. Sloane in Century.

Fine tooth combs of brass and ivory have been dug up from Roman tombs and from certain allusions found in the Latin poets it is evident that they were greatly needed by the ladies of the world's metropolises.
